

wpipe at the center of your pipelines

Alerts that warn you before your users notice

The context

Reactive monitoring works like this: the user calls, you run, you check logs and (hopefully) find the cause. Proactive monitoring is different: the system warns you when a metric crosses a threshold. With wpipe you can define alerts with a simple API, no monitoring stack required.

Why engineers shift to wpipe

- Pipeline duration: a process that took 2s now takes 10s.
- Error rate and failures of specific steps.
- Custom metrics you define per step.

Code-first

Pipelines are Python: versionable, testable, reviewable in Git.

Checkpoints

State persisted to SQLite WAL at every step; resume, don't restart.

Independently lean

<50MB RAM. No broker, no daemon, no metadata server.

What it looks like

from wpipe import Pipeline, step

@step(name="my_step", retry_count=3, retry_delay=2, checkpoint=True)
def my_step(data):
    return {"result": process(data["input"])} pipe = Pipeline(pipeline_name="my_pipeline", tracking_db="pipeline.db") pipe.set_steps([my_step]) pipe.run({"input": [...]})

Python-native orchestration: checkpoints, retries, self-documenting.
```

SQLite WAL
Industrial durability without a database to administer.

Next step

wpipe is a Python library — try it in your next pipeline:

pip install wpipe

Steps stay functions you already understand. Docs, diagrams, and dashboards follow. Explore wpipe workflows at wpipe.readthedocs.io.
